Closing Exercises at the Valley and Madison Schools.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

LARGE AND INTERESTED ATTENDANCE-EXCELLENT PROGRAMMES WELL REN-DERED-NAMES OF THE PROFICIENT PU-PILS AND MEDALISTS.

The Valley School.

The closing exercises of the Valley school (colored)-Mr. Richard W. Flournoy, principal-took place yesterday at the First African church. The edifice was well filled with the parents and friends of the pupils, and there were also a number of white persons present.

The exercises were not unnecessarily prolonged, and were highly enjoyed by all present. A well-selected programme was rendered in excellent style.

The following was the programme:

class; Sunshine and Shadow-concert readng-by Mrs. Hugnes's class; "Sweet Byeand-Bye," song, by the school; Interrupted Recitation; Somebody, by Mrs. Hughes's class; Beautiful World—solo and chorus; Sermon on Shoes; The Sewing Circle; "Always Truth," song, by the school; Thoughts on Sunday Morning; "Whispering Hope," duet; Birthday Verses; Bevy of P's, eight girls; "Murmuring Sea," duet; Casabianca, &c.; duet; "Away, Away," &c., song, by the school.

The singing of solos, duets, &c., was in fine taste, and rendered artistically by Blanche Scroggin (contralto), Mildred Anderson (alio), and Rose Williams (soprano). The pupils were remarkably well-dressed and preserved perfect order. At the conclusion of these exercises perintendent Peay introduced Mr. Charles P. Rady, of the City School Board, who, in good advice to and complimentary of the see them : pupils, principal, and teachers, presented the medals to the first-honor pupils, and to Jacob Peterson for the best map drawn

THE START.

At 8:30 o'clock about three hundred ladies and gentlemen presented themselves at the Press Fleet-Old Dominion sheds. The barge Greenbush had been lashed alongside the steamer Pamlico, and the tug Arnold got into position ahead of the barge to peed the two vessels. The Pamlico, containing all the commissary stores, was wisely chosen as the flag-ship of the squad-

And so with banners flying, the band playing, and happy hearts keeping time to the music, the fleet sailed out into the stream. Soon the spires of Richmond were lost in the distance, and instead of roughly-paved streets, rows of houses, and hurrying crowds, we had the placid waters of the James, green fields, the perfumes of the fields, and as bright a sun and fair a sky as ever Providence vouchsafed a great undertaking.

The progress of the fleet was necessarily slow. Admiral Pritchard and the captain of the Press (not Horse) Marines wisely decided that the first consideration was safety. Had a boiler bursted or one of the vessels been driven upon an unknown shore half the offices in Richmond would have been vacated. There would have been several aching voids in the City Council, and the hack-riding bills of the survivors would have been prodigious. Each newspaper would have been draped in the emblems of mourning for a month; worse still, some of the loveliest of the fair sex would have been lost, and a real calamity and irreparable blow thus inflicted upon the city. So, in view of all these dreadful things, moderate progress was deemed the wisest.

The hours, however, flew by quickly Prof. Kessnich and his corps, Messrs. William Tremer, Jacob Beier, John Baseler, John Reintz, Fred. won by Charles S. Stokes. It was a matter of regret with many that the excursionists' stay at Shirley was so brief. The grounds are very fine; the site high and commanding; and the house a house for the ladies of Mr. Carter's family.

· The vocal music was furnished by Messrs. Charles O'B. Cowardin, John D. Redford, William Smith, John H. Kepler, Fontaine DeWitt, W. H. Grant, H. T. Cardozo, and M. S. Turner director. Shortly after leaving Richmond these gentlemen took up their part of the programme, and faithfully did they carry it out from that moment at various times during the day and afternoon, and until the return of the excursionists to cellent, but was one of the brightest features of the programme. Whether in by Mrs. Mary J. Gibbs: chorus or solo, it burst out with the same richness, and fore and aft the sweet notes of our friends resounded again and again until the whole party of excursionists caught the inspiration of the occasion, and with one voice accorded to the singers that credit justly due to them. Everything that anybody could suggest was sung and much more, and all with the same pleasant

The strictest order was observed, and nothing occurred to mar the day's enjoyment. The Grays never looked better, and their fine appearance and soldierly bearing received merited encomiums.

AN ALLEGED COUNTERFEITER .- Timoth Sullivan, a young man about twenty-five years of age, was arrested Monday night by Policeman Tomlinson at the Theatre Comique for passing a counterfeit half-dollar upon the doorkeeper. Yesterday morning he was taken before Acting Police-Justice W. Hall Crew, and, according to the usual custom, that official turned him over to the United States authorities. Sullivan was taken before United States Commissioner Thomas S. Atkins, and after an examination was sent on to the grand jury.
